

PRESIDENT HUTSON TO RETIRE

DR. HAROLD H. HUTSON, president of Lycoming College since 1969, was granted retirement at his own request at a meeting of the college board of trustees on October 23, 1975.

The retirement will be effective at the end of the current academic year, June 30, 1976, when Dr. and Mrs. Hutson will move from the residence provided for the college president at 325 Gramplan Boulevard to their former home in Bethesda, Maryland.

W. Gibbs McKenney, Jr., chairman of the board of trustees, expressed the board's regrets at Dr. Hutson's decision to retire. He cited the retiring president for his academic and fiscal leadership during a period of severe change in American higher education. "Our college," Mr. McKenney said, "is one of the few small and independent institutions of the liberal arts tradition which has maintained a strong financial and academic position during this period of transition."

The chairman recalled that in the six years, under the guidance of Dr. Hutson the college has liquidated more than $1,000,000 in short term notes issued for the construction of the Academic Center and has built up its invested funds and reserves to assist with the financing of the years ahead.

Dr. Hutson, who will be 62 in January, was born and raised in South Carolina, the son of a Methodist minister. He graduated summa cum laude from Wofford College at the age of 18 and served as an instructor in second-year Greek for one term. He earned the bachelor of divinity from Duke University and the Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

His teaching career began in 1936 at the University of Chicago, where he was a Fellow in the Department of New Testament. He was professor of religion and philosophy at Birmingham-Southern from 1938 to 1946 and professor of religion and chairman of the department of religion at Ohio Wesleyan University for the next six years.

Dr. Hutson's administrative career in the field of higher education began in 1952 when he was appointed president of Greensboro College, a position he held until 1964 when he was named provost and executive vice president of The American University. He remained at American until coming to Lycoming in 1969.

While in Williamsport, Dr. Hutson has been active in numerous civic affairs. He has served as a member of the Williamsport-Lycoming County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, the board of directors of the Lycoming United Way, and the board of managers of the Williamsport Hospital. He is also president of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of The United Methodist Church. Dr. Hutson's plans after retirement include serving independent and church-related colleges as a part-time consultant from his home in the Washington area.

W. Gibbs McKenney, Jr., has appointed 13 members of a selection committee comprised of representatives of the trustees, faculty, administration and student body to begin the search for and selection of a successor to Dr. Hutson.

Chosen to the committee by Mr. McKenney from the board of trustees were Daniel G. Fultz, of Pittsford, N. Y.; William E. Strasburg, of Gwynedd Valley, Pa.; the Rev. Paul E. Myers, of Hershey, Pa.; Harold H. Shreckengast, Jr., of Jenkintown, Pa.; Walter J. Heim, of Montoursville, and John T. Detwiler, Paul G. Gilmore, and Nathan W. Stuart, all of Williamsport. Kenneth E. Himes, of Williamsport, treasurer of the college, will represent the administration. Mrs. Gertrude B. Madden, associate professor of English, and Dr. Robert W. Rabold, professor of economics, both of Williamsport, the faculty, and David A. Walsh, president of the Lycoming Student Association, will serve from the student body.

Mr. McKenney will also be a member of the committee and he and Mr. Heim will serve as co-chairmen of the group. They emphasized that all qualified candidates will be given consideration and that the committee welcomes suggestions from the alumni, parents and friends of the College. Anyone wishing to submit the name of a candidate should do so in writing and forward it promptly to the secretary of the selection committee.

The selection committee was convened for its first session immediately after the adjournment of the board meeting to formulate plans for the search for Dr. Hutson's successor. The committee will meet from time to time and has been given a goal to conclude its work no later than the annual spring meeting of the board of trustees in April, 1976.

About a thousand parents and other family members visited the campus over Parents' Week End. We hope they enjoyed spending time with their sons/daughters. If you were here, your picture may be in some of these shots or on page 2. No? Sorry we missed you!

CAMPUS NOTES

DR. W. ARTHUR FAUS, professor emeritus of philosophy at Lycoming, is the author of a meditation, entitled "Amazing Good News," accepted for publication in the November/December issue of THE UPPER ROOM, a worldwide interdenominational devotional guide.

The daily meditation guide is printed in 40 languages with 40 editions and is distributed in more than one hundred countries over the world. With a readership in excess of ten million persons per issue, it is considered a high honor to have a meditation selected for publication in THE UPPER ROOM.

DR. EDUARDO GUERRA, professor of religion at Lycoming College, traveled to Chicago recently where he represented Lycoming at the 75th anniversary meeting of the American Schools of Oriental Research.

The meeting began with an address by Dr. Ruth Amiran, an associate of the Israel Museum. Dr. Amiran is an acknowledged expert on ceramic studies in Syro-Palestinian archeology.

Dr. Guerra is coordinator of the Near East Culture and Archeology Major at Lycoming, an affiliate institution of ASOR. Also conducting annual meetings at the session will be the Society of Biblical Literature and the American Academy of Religion.

Dr. Guerra and Lycoming College students have participated for the last six years in the ASOR sponsored excavations. Dr. Guerra said that a group of students will participate next summer in a new American excavation sponsored by ASOR at Tel-Halif, between Jerusalem and Beersheba.

ROGER SHIPLEY, associate professor of art, exhibited a one-man show in the Community Room of the James V. Brown Library from November 3 to November 21. The opening was Monday, November 3rd from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. The show will include recent sculptures, drawings, paintings and prints.

MRS. GERTRUDE MADDEN, associate professor of English and chairman of the department, attended a conference at the Center for Medieval and Early Renaissance Studies, State University of New York at Binghamton early this month. Papers and discussion centered on "The Alliterative Tradition in the Fourteenth Century." Two internationally recognized scholars, both medievalists, from Cambridge, England, spoke: Derek Brewer and Derek Pearsall.

A group of piano students under the direction of MARY RUSSELL and IRENE VELEY presented a demonstration of "Musical Rhythm in the Ensemble Class and Private Lesson" at the State Convention of the Pennsylvania Music Teachers' Association at Marywood College in Scranton on Saturday, November 1st. Students performing were PAUL HOFFMAN, ANNETTE PACKARD, JEFFERY SEELEY, NINA YOUNG and MARY WALL.

JULIA M. RUX, instructor in the sociology-anthropology department, has been accepted for participation in an NSF Chautauqua-Type Short Course on the Psychosocial Environments of Human Aging. The course will be held November 17 & 18, 1975, and March 29 & 30, 1976, at the University of Maryland. The course is designed to provide participants with the opportunity to examine in depth some aspect of aging, and present research on the topic.

As its next offering of the current season, Lycoming's Arena Theatre will present The Storytellers, a children's play by Brian Way. The production will feature matinee and evening performances on November 22nd and a matinee on November 23rd. In an effort to further college-community relations, the play will also tour area schools during the Spring Semester. Although the Arena has previously staged children's shows during the summer, this will be the first time that the theatre has performed this type of drama during the academic year.

Kim R. Bissonette, a senior theatre major, will direct the production. An enthusiastic exponent of theatre for children, Mr. Bissonette has worked with the Arena in a variety of capacities since coming to Lycoming. As an actor he has appeared in such productions as The Dragon, Our Town, and Man of La Mancha. In last spring's production of Private Lives, he served as stage manager and lighting co-designer. As a company member of the Arena Summer Theatre, he has worked as an actor, stage manager, and lighting designer. In addition, he will design lighting for the Arena's December production of Hot 1 Baltimore.

Mr. Bissonette is the son of Mrs. Shirli Bissonette, of 234 Tioga Street, Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

Out of the Past . . .

Printed promotional material for schools and colleges is not new, but it certainly has changed. When Edward J. Gray was president of the old seminary (one of Lycoming's predecessors), a simple card, reproduced here, appeared to be the major recruiting hand-out. That was just about a century ago, and we think its simplicity and directness rather striking.

Whether you agree that a "century of progress" has taken place, a lot of changes have certainly occurred.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

E. J. GRAY, D. D., President.

LOCATION.—Remarkable for beauty and healthfulness. In a city famed for thrift, enterprise and culture.

ACCESS.—The Phila. & Erie, the Northern Central, the Phila. & Reading, the Beech Creek and the Pine Creek Railroads pass through the city.

PURPOSE.—To combine thorough mental training with a preparation for practical life, under positively Christian influences. Our methods seek to develop a high type of manhood and womanhood with broad and practical learning.

FACILITIES.—We have thirteen teachers of wide culture and large experience. We provide eight regular courses of study, either of which may be pursued to graduation, or studies may be selected from any or all. In the Sciences we have apparatus for full illustration and experiment. In Languages, Mathematics, Music, Art and Literature we offer superior advantages.

HOME.—We combine the comforts of a pleasant home with the advantages of a well-ordered school. Our rooms are light, airy, carefully ventilated, thoroughly heated with steam and well furnished. Our table is abundantly supplied with good, wholesome food; our teachers eat at the same tables with our students.

EXPENSE.—$185.00 covers all bills for board, washing (twelve pieces per week), heat, light, and completely furnished room for one year, proportionate rates per term. When students partially furnish room, $15.00 less (see Catalogue). Tuition according to studies pursued.

DISCOUNTS.—We give a discount when two enter from same family at the same time; also to ministers, those preparing to preach or for mission work, and those preparing to teach.

INQUIRIES.—We answer all inquiries promptly and send catalogues free to all who ask for them.

CDC Report on Employment Survey

The Career Development Center's recent report on the Class of 1974 reveals that only 2% of that year's graduates are known to be presently unemployed. A total of 378 graduated that year and 206 (55%) reported that they were employed on a full-time basis. One hundred forty-eight (39%) were with industry, 37 (10%) were teaching, and 21 (6%) were with government agencies.

Sixty-two graduates (16%) were enrolled in graduate or professional schools, while four (1%) were in military service. Forty-three (11%) reported that they were underemployed--working at jobs for which they were over-qualified--while 46 (12%) did not respond to inquiries and could not be contacted.

Surveys of this sort provide data that help the Career Development Center evaluate its effectiveness in its programs to assist graduates find proper employment or gain entry to graduate and professional schools.

It should be pointed out that some graduates do not seek assistance and that others are in "temporary jobs" until a more appropriate one is found. How many of those who failed to respond are employed or in advanced study is, of course, unknown.

WINNING PACE SET IN SPORTS

BRUCE L. SWANGER

Lycoming's fall sports teams compiled the best record in recent years when the four varsity squads won 19 and lost 15 and the junior varsity footballers added three wins without a loss for a 22-15 overall mark.

The varsity grid team under the guidance of Frank Girardi won six and lost two to fashion its best record since the 7-1 mark established in 1958. The soccer squad coached by Nels Phillips opened the year with three consecutive triumphs but then ran into some difficult times to end the season with a 4-6 mark.

Sally Vargo led her fall tennis team to a 4-1 record, and Virginia Kieser guided her field hockey squad to a 5-6 mark, including a 1-2 record and a fifth place finish in the first Middle Atlantic Conference championship playoffs.

DEFENSE OUTSTANDING

Much of the credit for the fine season recorded by the football team should go to the outstanding defensive unit which ended the year first in the nation among small colleges in total defense and second in rushing and passing. For those who want to look ahead to 1976, 9 of the 11 starters on the defensive unit will be returning. Only defensive backs Jim Rich and Joe Klebon will be lost by graduation. The same is also true of the offensive starting unit, with tight end John Vanaskie and tailback Sam Schiccatano the only two to graduate.

Three members of the defensive unit were named to the weekly Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference All-Star Team for outstanding performance in individual games. They include freshman defensive tackle Jerry Butler, middle guard Mike Prowant, a Middle Atlantic Conference All-Star last year as a freshman, and Rich Vanaskie, one of the finest tight ends in the conference, was also given honorable mention for his outstanding performance in the 16-12 victory over Juniata.

The Warriors, at times, had some difficulty maintaining a consistent offense during the season, but two fine running back prospects were lost early in the year due to injuries, and their absence had some adverse effect. Sophomore Ray Radomicki, who ran for 41 yards on 7 carries in the opening 23-0 win over Lock Haven, was injured on the seventh carry and was out for the season. Freshman Glenn McDowell, who also ran well and scored one touchdown in the Lock Haven game, received a leg injury the following week in a junior varsity game and saw no more action.

SOCCER OFFENSE ERRATIC

Lycoming's soccer team has been somewhat of an enigma this season. The defense, behind the outstanding goal tending of co-captain Jeff Swenson, has been fairly consistent, with one exception, the 9-0 rout by Elizabethtown, but the offense has been erratic.

The offense, with co-captain Al Lockwood leading the way, scored 13 points in the first three games, then faltered in the next three, scoring only one goal. They bounced back for their highest point production of the year against a strong Upsala team, rolling over the Vikings, 7-4, before reverting to their no scoring routine with three consecutive shutouts to end the season.

Lockwood, a senior, booted 12 of the 21 goals scored by the Warriors during the season, including his top production of four against Upsala. He scored three each against Wilkes and Baptist Bible.

TENNIS PLAYER UNDEFEATED

Mariouise Mazzante led the netters to a fine 4-1 season while remaining undefeated in both singles and doubles play in the five matches. Mariouise, a senior, finished intercollegiate competition with only a singles loss in a match with Bucknell to blemish her career record. Carol McDivitt also completed the season with a fine 4-1 mark in singles.

HOCKEY TEAM IN SLOW START

Lycoming's field hockey team, off to a slow start, gathered momentum in the final part of the year to win the last two games and end the year with a 4-4 record in regular season play. The offense, which had generated only two goals in losses to Mansfield, Susquehanna, Wilkes, and Juniata, found some scoring punch in the final two games for a 3-2 victory over Juniata and a 2-1 win over Mansfield.

The stickers lost, 8-0, to Gettysburg in the opening round of the playoffs before trouncing Scranton by the same score to advance to the semifinals in the double elimination tournament. They were eliminated by Dickinson, 2-0, and finished fifth.

Quarterback John Johnson (12) fakes a handoff to fullback Bob Weber (42) in the Warriors' 49-0 victory over Fairleigh Dickinson.

PROWANT NAMED E. C. A. C. ALL-STAR

Mike Prowant, Lycoming's outstanding sophomore middle guard from South Williamsport, was named to the weekly E. C. A. C. All-Star Team in Division III for his performance in spearheading the Warriors' defense in a 10-6 victory over Delaware Valley.

MIKE PROWANT

Prowant, who as a freshman last year was chosen to the Middle Atlantic Conference All-Star Team, was in the Aggies' backfield most of the afternoon, making eight unassisted tackles, including two sacks of the Delaware Valley quarterback. Tom Schreiner, the Aggies' coach, was so impressed by Jim Rich (87) presents the game ball to Dr. Hutson following 49-0 victory over Fairleigh-Dickinson. Jim thanked the president for his unwavering support of and confidence in the team.

Alumna Appears in Leading Role in Opera

Marianna Ciraulo '57 appeared on October 2, 1975, with the New York City Opera Company singing the very demanding role of Salome in Richard Strauss' opera of the same name. Marianna sang and acted the part with ease and provided a thrilling evening for opera lovers, especially the bus load of students, faculty and friends who made the trip from Williamsport to New York City for her appearance. The accompanying pictures, provided with the permission of the photographer to re-print in the Lycoming College Report, capture some of the intensity of this outstanding opera.

Salome, partially concealed, overhears a discussion of JoKaanan's fate.

Crazed by her passion, rebuked by the Prophet, Salome ponders her request of Herod's offer "... anything, to half of my Kingdom."

Salome's irrational passion leaves her with only her beloved's head.

LARUE C. SHEMPP is a charter member of the 21 year old Train Collectors Association. A book has recently been released by the Iron Horse Productions of Pittsburgh, PA entitled, Toy Train Treasury, Vol. 2, "The Shempp Collection." This is a hard bound, 112 page book with over 60 fine color plates of Mr. Shempp's outstanding and nationally known toy train collection. This collection took 32 years to bring together. All of the finest trains built by the Ives Corp., the Lionel Corp., and the American Flyer Co. are to be found in his quality collection of 314 separate train sets--the oldest set being made in 1887. LaRue has his collection on display in his home in Williamsport, where he has resided all of his life. He retired in August of 1974 after 36 years as a case worker for the Lycoming County Board of Assistance. The publication house plans to do such works on the leading collectors in the United States.

EDMUND L. ELIASON has been living in Nashville since 1971 with his wife, Linda, and their daughter. He has been very active in the Tennessee Jaycees and with the Boy Scouts. Career-wise, he is affiliated with Gardner and White. His territory covers Tennessee, Georgia and Florida, handling employee benefits for members of the Tennessee Hospital Association and the Southeastern Hospital Conference. His firm acts as consultants, brokers, and plan administrators for hospital associations in thirteen states. Ed reports that he talked with an old Lycoming friend, GLEN KAUFMAN '66 and the nostalgia really hit him. He sees BILL and LINDA (CARLTON) REMORENKO '69 quite often and the following article, written a bit on the tongue-in-cheek side, is a serious effort to get Lycoming alumni in the southeast together. A list of alumni living in the southeastern states has been supplied to Ed. The article he enclosed is as follows:

Announcing the Great Southeastern Lycoming College Alumni Association.

Membership applications are now being accepted by G.S.L.C.A.A. (pronounced 'Guslikah'), a newly formed association of Lycoming College alumni who reside in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. This prestigious organization is headquartered in Nashville, Tennessee where the Nashville Chapter is already in operation. The association is being organized by Ed Elison and Bill Remorenko. Charter members to date include Ed Elison, Bill Remorenko and Linda Carlton Remorenko. We are planning to conduct periodic "Alumni Weekends" in cities such as Nashville and Atlanta due to the fact that the trip to Williamsport is, at best, most difficult. (And remember how cold it gets up there!) A special weekend excursion is being planned for early Spring which will include a hog calling contest, a visit to a local still, and a Sunday prayer breakfast in Waverly, Tennessee, the home of "Gums, the catfish" and William B. Remorenko. Gums is the oldest known catfish in the Tennessee River, weighing some 150 lbs. Remorenko is a Theta Chi who graduated from Lycoming College and Duke Forestry School, and now wears a straw hat and snake boots to his executive duties at Inland Container Corp. in nearby New Johnsonville, Tennessee. As a special service, the Association will establish a Southern Living Advisory Council, whose purpose will be to offer counseling to our fellow alumni who find themselves being transferred to the sunny South. Many northern-bred individuals have found it difficult to adjust to the mild climate, less crowded cities and friendly people in the Southeast, and hopefully, the Council will be able to make this transition easier. Statistics indicate that of all young executives transferred from our northern cities to the South, less than 10% have any desire to go back. Alabama Governor, George Wallace, indicates that this is one of the major problems facing the South today. Future projects under discussion include a Southern Travel Guide for our Yankee friends who may wish to travel through our part of the country without looking like a tourist. This guide would include such helpful articles as "How to Order Grits," "How to avoid Georgia's Speed Traps," and a complete entertainment section listing the better restaurants in Tupelo, Mississippi, Hanging Limb, Tennessee, and Rome, Georgia. As you can really see, the members of G.S.L.C.A.A. really know where it's at! All kidding aside, we'd love to get something started, and would appreciate hearing from anyone interested in joining our group. Any interested alumni should contact Ed Elison, 2623 Willowbranch Dr., Nashville, TN 37217 (615-889-4790).

RICHARD E. BOWSER has accepted a faculty appointment as television producer-director for the Indiana University School of Nursing at Indianapolis, IN. He will be in charge of scripting production and direction of instructional television materials for the 1,700 nursing candidates that attend the school annually. These instructional video tapes will also be distributed to other nursing schools throughout the country. He will also be in charge of designing, developing and implementing a curriculum for a new specialist degree program in clinical nursing. There are only four programs of this type in the country, and it is expected that the proposed innovations at Indianapolis will serve as a model for the many nursing schools nationwide which are considering instituting such a program themselves. Considered to be a model program in health sciences, the Indiana University and Purdue University School of Nursing has been heavily funded by the federal government which recently financed the institution of a 2 million dollar broadcast quality color television studio system with computerized editing capability. Richard holds advanced degrees from Indiana University and Clarion State College.

JOHN and LORRAINE (DANIELSEN) MARTINSEN are living in Natick, MA. After graduating from Lycoming, John spent four years in graduate school at the University of Connecticut and received a Ph.D. degree in economics in May of 1974. His hard work earned him the honors of both Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. During this time, Lorraine worked for Travelers Insurance Co. in Hartford, CT, and took night courses toward her bachelor's degree. They became parents of a son, Eric John, born March 17, 1975. They report he is going to be a wrestler just like his dad. John is beginning his second year of teaching at Babson College in Wellesley, MA. They enjoy the class notes, as it provides a welcome link to many fond memories.

ARNOLD H. STEIN, II has accepted a position as full-time Director of Music at Maple Grove United Methodist Church, Columbus, OH.
